

October, 2015

Our first program of the new season will be held at the Bedford Library Meeting Room on Tuesday, October 20, at 6:30 PM. The presentation will be a painting demonstration by Emily Passman. Bakers for this event are Vicki Davidson and Sylvia Mallory. Our host will be Stephanie Davidson and the centerpiece will be provided by Judy Rice.

At this time, crafts not sold on Bedford Day will be offered for sale.

The fall painting class with Valeria Lanza will have a new location this year: The yellow Town Center Building that houses the Bedford Recreation Department and the COA. The classroom number is Room 139 in the North Wing. There will be plenty of signs to direct participants to the room.

The class will take place on Tuesday mornings, as usual, from 9:30 to noon, with a brief set-up time allowed before the class. The room has tables, chairs, a sink, a microwave, and other conveniences. There is plenty of parking in the area--specifically, all around the Town Hall; in front of the Town Center Building; and in the lot behind the building. Disregard the numbers that are painted on the parking spaces--you may park anywhere except where specifically restricted.

Bedford Day:

Judi Babcock, Susan Iozzo, and Jeanne Reidy sold their artwork on Bedford Day!!

to everyone who helped make Bedford Day a success—those on the Art Show committee and the many members who gave generously of their time, talents and materials for the Crafts Table.

The Art Show committee is grateful to those who helped with the show, whether during the drop off, hanging art or manning the gallery. The committee considers the show a success and looks forward to next year!

Also a personal message from Anita Feld:

“I would like to thank everyone involved in the Crafts Table from start to finish. There was a lot of planning, busy hands donating many items for the Craft Table, the many donations for the beautiful raffles, and the lovely silent auction items. There are many members behind the scenes helping to make the Crafts Table attractive and marketable.

THANK YOU TO EVERYONE WHO LENT A HAND THIS YEAR!"

Last, but not least, thank you also to those who promoted the online silent auction, which raised $200!

The deadline for the business card contest is November 1. Submit your entries by then to be included.

For those members who do not yet have the new Yearbook, a copy will be available at the October program.

Judi Babcock, BACS member, is one of the founders of a small new non-profit group, www.artforfamilies.org The mission is to donate wall art to shelters and families that are leaving shelters.
